Always appreciative of monetary support towards our animals' hay, grain, and medicine costs. For instance, all the animals eat hay as their daily food and we provide free-access hay to all our animals. One round bale is approximately $60 and in total we provide around 8-10 bales per week. We also have a few retired horses living out their best days on our property that require daily medication and supplements for health and happiness. As you can imagine, every bit of support helps our animals greatly!
